THE WORLD

SATURDAY EVENING, NOVE MBER 19.

SUBSCRIPTION TO THE EVENING EDITION (Including Postage), PER MONTH, 30c. ; PER YEAR, $3.50.

THE OCTOBER RECORD.

Total number of "Worlds" printed during the menth of October, 1887,

8.479.330. AVERAGE PER DAY FOR THE ENTIRE 273,526 Copies.

October circulation during the past six years

ADVERTISING RATES.

(Agate Measurement.)

inary, 25 cents per line. No extra price for ac-hie display. Business or Special Notices, opposite mai page, 50 cents per line. Reading Notices, der marked "Adv.": First page, $1.50 per Fourth page, $1.25 per line; Inside page, $1

The rates for advertising in the Daily WORLD do not ap-ply to the Evening terms. Nor do the rates of that terms apply to the Norming Edition.

TO STOP THE GRABS.

The promoters of the scheme to pauperize the pension list and to pile $50,000,000 upon the $75,000,000 that it now costs each year are to make another raid on the Treasury.

There will probably be enough vote-seeking demagogues in Congress to pass the bill, but the President having once vetoed it can probably be relied on to do it again.

Millions for justice and more millions for generosity the nation has rightly voted to the defenders of the Union. But to put a preminim mon mendicancy is to degrade deserving soldiers and to wrong the taxpayer.

There is one way only to stop these grabs for millions. Cut off the surplus by reducing

HALF A LOAP.

HENRY GEORGE says that "electoral reform, which THE WORLD is now urging, is not merely in itself one of the greatest reforms, but it will in time suggest and make possible many others."

Not only so, but it must precede most other reforms. We can never have honest politics nor good government while elections are carried by the combined power of the party machine and the almighty dollar.

Mr. Gronge thinks that the English law restricting election expenditures is a good their wives. one, but he would be content to get this winter a law providing for the printing and distribution of ballots at public expense.

Half a loaf is better than no bread. But why shouldn't the people have the whole

VIRGINIA'S RETURN.

Last year the undertow of a little tidal wave carried Virginia away from her Demoeratic moorings.

This year she comes back.

The contest was for the control of the Legislature, and that body is Democratic in both branches, with a majority of thirty-four on joint ballot.

RIDDLEBERGER goes next.

THE WOMEN BREADWINNERS.

should be doubly enlisted in the cause of the women workers.

They have the harder lot. They are less able to secure justice and decent treatment They are paid the meanest wages. They suffer the most from competition. They have not even the ballot to command the attention of the law-makers.

The women workers are still the victims of the atrocious injustice that gives them but a fraction of men's wages even when they do the same kind and amount of work.

The first step towards righting such wrongs and correcting such evils is to give them publicity, and this THE WORLD will help to do.

THREE TIMES AND OUT.

Mr. Brarne's neighbors naturally cling to the hope that he will be renominated in spite of the demonstrated inability of his friends to carry New York, the pivotal State. Congressman MILLIERN thinks the people

44 have arrived at a point where they want a President who is American in feeling, and who has the courage and intelligence to foster and protect American interests."

"American interests" seem to be doing very well, Mr. MILLIEEN. They were not so prosperous at any time during the last twelve years of Republican rule as they now are. CHAUNCEY DEPEW says that "never in our history were we in such prosperous condition." And CHAUNCEY ought to know.

It has been "three times and out" for Mr. BLAINE.

ROMANCE OF REAL LIPE.

Observant readers of the newspapers can hardly fail to have noticed how closely many of the most remarkable and popular inventions of the novelist and dramatist have been paralleled of late in the realm of

The pathetic wanderings of Evangeline are irresistibly suggested by the account this morning of Mrs. HABRINGTON'S long and hopeless search for her husband, who fought and fell with Cusrus. In the story of Kis-SANE, of San Francisco, was almost a duplication of "Jim the Penman." A recent sensational case in the West was nearly identical with the main features of "Called Back." STEVERSON'S "Kidnapped" is suggested by the unsolved mystery of CHARLIE Ross and other similar disappearances. There have lamore Jall.

been scores of Robinson Crusoes since Duron wrote his famous story. And there are hundreds of romances of real life which the novelist has never rivalled.

Facts are often too incredible for fiction.

AN ENVIABLE PHILOSOPHY.

How much of the secret of contentmentthat best substitute for happiness-is embodied in the saying of Max O'RELL concerning the French peasant: "He is not wealthy, but he is rich in what he knows how to do without."

Fortunate "Jacques Bonhomme!" He has the most useful philosophy: that of being able to square his life by his environment-to limit his want by his purse.

Half the fret of life comes from not knowing what to do without.

THE FORMIDABLE COAL SCHOONER.

The coal schooner continues to maintain its reputation as the most dangerous cruiser upon the high seas. The escape of the Guyandotte is apparently due solely to the fact that in this instance the enemy was not loaded and ready for action.

The sunken hull of the Oregon can evidence what the coal schooner can do when really prepared for business. Uncle Sam's Tallapoosa and various other pretentious craft have had a taste of its quality.

There seems to be no reasonable doubt that the coal schooner is the most formidable cruiser affoat. If it can accomplish so much accidentally, what could it not do when handled in accordance with naval tactics? In the rehabilitation of the navy, let the Government consider the destructive capacity of the coal schooner.

THE SAME OLD SPOOK

The complete exposure of the alleged medium Fay, in Boston, should dampen her business prospects as a dealer in fraud. But probably it won't

She has been thoroughly exposed before, Her devoted admirers contended that she was merely engaged in a pardonable effort to assist the grand cause of "materialization." The dollars of the credulous continued to roll in her direction.

If the infatuated devotees of the "seeannts " cannot be persuaded to be satisfied, as Thoreau suggested, with "one world at a time," they might at least reasonably object to having a very clumsy denizen of this world after repeated exposures palmed off as a visitor from the other.

There is a good deal of human nature in crowds, whether in Germany or the United States. The cable reports that in the royal procession in Berlin "the Czarina and the Princess were more heartily cheered than were their husbands." That has frequently been the case with American Presidents and EDWARD ATKINSON'S proposition to buy the Provinces for $50,000,000 is not received with unbounded enthusiasm. There is a good deal of common sense in the old Quaker's theory that it is a waste of effort to climb the tree for the nuts. Just wait a little, and they'll drop of their own accord.

The car stoves not only must go-they are actually going. There are many things that must go that persist in staying : War taxes, monopolistic trusts, overhead wires, dirty streets, cholera germs, political bosses, votebuyers, boodlers, &c. But Time will be too long for them all.

About 60 per cent, of the ordinary cases, similar to that of the Crown Prince, are successfully treated. But somehow all the The public sympathy that supports the prominent patients with their corps of conmale wage-earner in his efforts to obtain an sulting physicians seem to die. Where there adequate share in the products of his toil is a squabble among the cooks the broth is often spoiled.

> Even if the State Department does not propose to demand an explanation of Canada of its treatment of Wong Chin Foo, a naturalized American citizen, it might find a clerk to acknowledge his communications. If he can't get justice he should at least have courtesy.

> The witty French lecturer, " Max O'Rell," says: "The French fight for glory, the Germans for their living, the Russians to divert attention from home affairs: but John Bull fights to help trade." Uncle Sam fights only in self-defense.

The football contest to-day will have considerable bearing upon the sanction given to this game by the college authorities. A bruising and maiming match will not help to keep it in favor.

Two rich old men have been "buncoed" ont of $6,000 and $3,000 respectively. When cupidity tempts men who have one foot in the grave their losses dull the edge of sympathy.

The ball-players claim to have gained their point. The ball magnates say that they come out shead. "And he is right, and you are right, and all is right as right can be."

Mr. PARNELL will stay at Hastings and avoid the hustings on account of his health. But when Parliament meets he will no doubt be there if alive.

The stricken Crown Prince is serene under his affliction. But so was GRANT. A hero is a hero, whether born in a cabin or a palace.

Max O'RELL repeats the old myth that the sun never sets on John Bull. J. B's son JONATHAN has certainly sat on him twice.

The London police are "preparing for Sunday's riots." Adequate preparation for a riot commonly prevents it. "Sunset" Cox has a genius for being op-

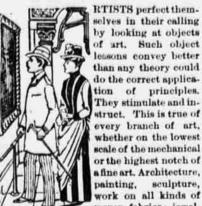

Turkey. The Sunday World will have a graphic story of a woman Land Leaguer's experience in Tul portune. He is lecturing this week on

ARTISANS WANT A CHANCE,

THEY WOULD GO TO THE MUSEUM EVERY SUNDAY IF THEY COULD.

What Managers and Men in the Big Art Work Establishments Say About the Proposed Sunday Opening - Visits to the Museum Would Serve to Make the Workmen More Skilful in Their Callings.

by looking at objects of art. Such object lessons convey better than any theory could do the correct application of principles. They stimulate and instruct. This is true of every branch of art, whether on the lowest scale of the mechanical or the highest notch of a fine art. Architecture, painting, sculpture, woven fabrics; jewel lers, designers, embroiderers, engravers, decorators, artistic brass-workers, stainedglass workers and branches of work similar to these call for some art sense in those who engage in them.

To such workers an art museum is of great benefit. They can gather new ideas, study new forms, see striking combinations of color, and exquisitely wrought work : and they are helped by all this. A World reporter wished to see how this art-working portion of the community felt art-working portion of the community felt in regard to the Sunday opening of the Metropolitan Museum. The round of investigation on this point was one of the most satisfactory which this inquiry has occasioned. The warmest and most universal desire for the opening existed among both managers and employees.

At Tiffany's there are several branches of art work carried on, and the Prince street branch of this house also engages a large force of workmen, especially silversmiths.

I. H. Whitehouse is at the head of the designing department in the Union Square place. He said: "It would be of great benefit to our workmen to have an opportunity on Sundays to see the exhibits at the Metropolitan. They are so busy during the week that they have absolutely no chance to see any outside works or objects of art. We do the highest kind of work here. I made the designs for the Gladstone Memorial and for the Bryant Vase.

"I have heard the workmen express the wish that they could have time and opportunity for seeing art work such as they would meet with at the Metropolitan. When they come back from Europe they have sometimes remarked: "Oh, those fellows over there have got a chance to see things in the Museums. They are open on Sundays."

come back from Europe they have sometimes remarked: 'Oh, those fellows over there have got a chance to see things in the Museums. They are open on Sundays.'

"Yes, our silver-workers, enamellers, fanpainters, and designers would all be helped by the study of new forms and choice specimens of workmanship. An idea would come in a moment from looking on some good thing that hours spent in working it out without that aid would not produce.

"I have been a draughtsman for Tiffany for thirty years and know what a profitable thing a Sunday's loitering walk through the museum would be for any one in this line. The workmen are too busy to go on any other day. It is a matter of surprise to me to hear any gone object to the Sunday opening."

The reporter met one or two of the workmen here and sounded them on their feeling in the matter. They declared their desire of the chance to visit the Museum which would be afforded by the Sunday opening.

The factory of the Gorham Manufacturing Company is in Providence, R. I. So they would not be affected by anything in the New York Museum, but George H. Houghton, one of the managers of the corporation, expressed himself as desirous of seeing the Museum thrown open. He said that he thought that it would be beneficial to art workers.

Theodore B. Starr, who deals in the high-workers.

Theodore B. Starr, who deals in the highest class of art ware, spends a large part of the year in Europe. His uncle, I. T. White, supervises things during his absence. Mr. White said: "I believe that it would educate that portion of the community, and afford them a reasonable recreation. They need something of the kind. Distributing tracts is not the way to reach the heart of the workis not the way to reach the heart of the working classes. You can see from Besant's 'All Sorts and[Conditions of Men' what good might be done. I should be glad to see the Museum opened, and I believe that the workmen would gain much profit from it." In H. B. Hertz's establishment for antique furniture, two young men were questioned as to their feeling. "Why, of course," said one, "we would like the Museum opened on Sunday. Then we could have a chance to go there. I know that all the men would like it. What do you think?" he asked of a brother craftsman.

raftsman.
"I live within five minutes of the Metro-craftsman.

"I live within five minutes of the Metropolitan, and never have time to go there," was the reply. "I have to leave home too early and I get back too late. I would certainly like to have it opened on Sundays."

Louis Tiffany's stained-glass works in Fourth avenue employ between 100 and 150 men. Pringle Mitchell, the manager, in answer to the question as to whether he thought that the workmen would be glad to avail themselves of the Museum on Sundays, replied; "I think that they would. Many of them go to the Cooper Union and the Art League as it is. Most of our employees are of good religious principles and are intelligent. They have to be for the greater part of our work. I think that the opening of the Museum on Sundays would have a beneficial effect on them, morally and mentally, because they could appreciate the things."

It was the same story all around with only one exception, a prominent decorator who thought that the workmen would not bother about going. But from the way the workmen expressed themselves his opinion does not seem warranted. Besides, the Sunday attendance in Boston and Philadelphia shows large numbers of workmen.

Throw open the doors of the Metropolitan large numbers of workmen.

Throw open the doors of the Metropolitan on the only day on which the working people can go, and let them in. What use in deferring this benefit?

Strangers Within Our Gates.

With others at the Grand Hotel is Capt. Henry Ward, U. S. A. Rear-Admiral W. E. Le Roy, U. S. N., with his wife, is staying at the Victoria Hotel. wife, is staying at the victoria notes.

State Senator G. W. Delamater, of Meadville, Pa., registered at the Albemarie last evening. United States Senator Shelby M. Cullom, of Illiois, arrived at the Hotel Brunswick last evening

United States Senator Colquitt, of Georgia, was an early arrival at the Grand Central Hotel this At the Oriental Hotel are Judge W. G. Veazey, of Rutland, Vt., Judge Advocate-Gen. of the Grand Army of the Republic, and ex-Gov. William Gas-ion, of Massachusetts.

Sam Jones, the revivalist, is at the Windsor Hotel, having arrived there yesterday. Gen. Jevi C. Wade, of Boston, President or the Mexican Central Railway, is at the same hotel. General Passenger Agent George L. Connor, of the Old Colony Rallroad, is an Everett House guest. Mme. Minnie Hauk's husband, Chevaller de Wartegg, has taken up his residence at the same hotel.

hotel.

George W. Childs, of Philadelphia; B. B. Smalley, of Vermont; ex-Consul-General to Sweden W.
W. Thomas, Ir. and State Senator Theodore C.
Battes, of Worcester, Mass., are recently arrived guests at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Deficient in Courtesy.

[From Harper's Busar.] Lady—A gentleman gave me his ac car to-day. Husband—And you thanked him, of course t Lady-Yes, I thanked him, but I course?

Lave done so. He hadn't the politeness to lift his

HERE'S TO YOU, MR. STEERS. May You Add Four More Stripes to the One

When Inspector Henry V. Steers reached his room in Police Headquarters this morning he was met by the clerical force of the Central Office, the special squad, members of the press, and representatives of nearly every section and quality of work in the Police Department.

The men formed in line and the inspector entered his office. Le Moult, the florist, had been at work with a staff of specialists since an early morning hour, and had transformed the room into a literal bower of floral beauty.

Two large American flags were caught up in the beak of a splendid American eagle and the familiar desk and chair daily occupied by the Inspector were tastily draped with smilax and natural flowers. In the centre was an immense mechanically arranged box, with moving figures. The scene was an old grandfather surrounded by children and grandchildren on Christmas Day, and behind a children on Christmas Day, and behind a dodging Santa Claus were the words: "I was much younger than I was thirty years ago."
This was a gift from R. Schlessinger. A four-foot floral shield with the significant letters: "1857-1887," was a remembrance from the Central Office Squad. The clerical force upstairs sent a horse-shoe, nearly three feet high, made of choice roses. Schlessinger & Co., the department tailors, also forwarded a floral gift.

oral gift.
One of the finest floral offerings was a horse-floral gift.

One of the finest floral offerings was a horseshoe from the press representatives who come in contact daily with Inspector Steers and his associate inspectors. It came from men, who for the nonce, sunk all personal differences and professional rivalries, and united in doing honor to a man whose thirty years of public service did not bear a stain or blemish, and whose character shows forth resplendent with faithful, loyal and commendable devotion to his friends and to the service.

Individual remembrances came from Supt.
Murray, Inspectors Williams, Byrnes and Conlin. One of the gifts was a scarf-pin, with a pearl in the centre, surrounded by diamonds, Inspectors Byrnes and Williams being the donors.

Inspector Steers put on his uniform, and on his sleeve was the sixth gold stripe, one for every five years of service. His police life has been a pleasant one, but each successive grade of promotion was the reward of merit after years of toil, devotion and honest zeal. Friends called upon him continually, shaking his hand and wishing him twenty years more of honorable service.

The floral gifts will be sent to the Inspector's home this evening, and Mrs. Steers and her family will enjoy their programme while being made the recipients of a handsome silver service, the gift of many citizens who honor, and love the popular Inspector of Police. It is a red-letter day in his history.

The story of some queer American diplo will be told in the Sunday WORLD.

REBUKED BY A HOTEL CLERK.

How Sir Alfred Gooch Received Informa tion About American Titles.

"Front! Take this card up to Senator -," called Clerk Peacock to a hall-boy at the Hoffman House.

"But it isn't the Senator I want to see It's the young man," said the first Republican candidate for the Presidency, Gen. John C. Fremont, whose card was in question. Oh, the boy understands, General, It's way I have of mixing up titles. So many titled foreigners arriving that a fellow has a great deal of trouble in attempting to address them in a manner which they consider proper. This indiscriminate conferring of titles by foreign rulers has gotten the hotel clerks into the bad habit of attaching a pre-titles by foreign rulers has gotten the hotel clerks into the bad habit of attaching a prefix to about everybody's name.

"I remember once when I didn't do this," continued the clerk. "It was when Sir Alfred Gooch was here. He was accompanied by his son and a man servant. Sir Alfred wanted his servant for something or other one day and requested me to send for him. I sent the boy and told him to tell the fellow that 'Mr.' Gooch wanted him at the office. Sir Alfred didn't like this at all, and remarked that his servant would not know who 'Mister' Gooch was and, loftly asked if we had no titles in this country.

"Well, I didn't like his manner very much, and I replied that we did have a few titles in this country, but that they were those of true nobility and were earned by their bearers on the battlefield, on the bench, in legislative halls and in other honorable ways, and were not entailed estates from dishonorable sources or the subject of a sovereign's caprice. I told 'Mister' Gooch that the title with which I had given him would probably be as honorable a creas he would ever wear and I told 'Mister' Gooch that the title with which I had given him would probably be as honorable a one as he would ever wear as an American citizen, and was one which every American was proud to wear."

Gen. Fremont smiled at the recitation by the voluble clerk of the rebuke given by him to inherited and king-conferred nobility. He must have been struck by the suggestion which it contained that he, the gray-haired and gray-bearded pathfinder of the wild West and Department Commander of the Army of the United States, had won his spurs and title by good and efficient service for his country.

ENGINEER FELTON KILLED OUTRIGHT. Derailment and Fire Overtakes an Evans ville and Indianapolis Train.

[SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.] BRAZIL, Ind., Nov. 19.—The passenge train leaving here last night for Clay City on the Evansville and Indianapolis road was ditched three miles out. The engine and a single coach turned over and took fire and were consumed. Engineer Felton was instantly killed, Fireman Leedham was badly scalded and Brakemrn Highwood was badly injured. There were sixteen passenger on the coach, all of whom escaped with more or less slight injuries.

Bank Treasurer Ring Buncoed.

(SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.)
NEWBURG, Nov. 19,—Capt. Thomas C. Ring, Treasurer of the Newburg Savings Bank, was accosted on the street yesterday by a young man who claimed to be an old acquaintance. The young man stated that he had bought tickets for a young man stated that he had bought tickets for a certain book, and had unexpectedly drawn two sets of the volume, one of which he offered Capt. Ring. The old gentleman accompanied the stranger to a house on Montgomery street, where there another man who figured as agent for the books. Here the captain became involved in the usual fottery scheme, which becomestated the deposit of a large amount of collateral security. Capt. Ring went to the bank and got $13,000 worth of Eric Raliroad and Newberg Gas Company stock, together with $6,000 in Albany City coupon bonds, with which the two sharpers promptly disappeared. The savings bank is not concerned in any way in the transaction.

Railroad Wreck at Camden. BORDENTOWN, N. J., Nov. 19.—The 6.50 A. M

enger train, on its way from Camden to Jersey City, this morning ran into the rear end of an empty coal train at Fieldsboro, one mile from here, amashing cars, piling the fragments up in a hesp and completely wrecking Engine 1099, at-tached to the passenger train. The tracks are blocked, and passengers are being transferred be-tween Camden and Trenton. No one was in-jured.

Trial Trip of the Burgess Fisherman. BOSTON, Nov. 19.—The new Burgess fisher made her trial trip to-day. She started from the end of Commercial wharf between 10 and 11 in the morning and sailed out into the lower bay. A number of the leading yachtsmen of Boston and captains of fishing schooners are aboard, and thorois much interest to see how the yachty looking craft will work.

AMATEURS DON THE BUSKIN.

AN OUTLOOK FOR A PROSPEROUS SEASON FOR SOCIETY PLAYERS.

Miss Elsie de Wolfe to Appear Twice "School for Scandal"—The Amaranth to Produce "The Silver King"—Church Folks at the Lyceum-Manager Donnelly Concert-A New Curtain for the Bilon.

comedy will be produced at the Lyceum Theatre by the same amateurs-for charity, of course. Charity is a very commendable thing and at times ineffably useful. Five other semi-theatrical entertainments are also booked at the Lyceum Theatre, which, partly because it is small and compact and partly because it is hardly like a theatre, with its parlors and daintily carpeted rooms, is extremely popular with the non-professional. The Amaranth Club, of Brooklyn, has been negotiating with Mr. H. Clay Miner for the use of the "Silver King." (Ye gods! what a play for amateurs to present!) Mr. Miner has kindly allowed them the use of the play, in return for which the amateurs have promised to turn out in a body and patronize Mrs. Potter when she plays in Brooklyn.

This is an honest fact: An entertainment called "Dorothy's Dreamland, or Fairy This is an honest fact: An entertainment called "Dorothy's Dreamland, or Fairy Opera," in aid of a fresh-air fund for the Church of the Redeemer was given at the Lyceum Theatre yesterday afternoon. It attracted a great number of nice, staid, quiet folk. Some of them had very evidently never entered a theatre before. Finally two demure, gentle-faced women entered the lobby, looked about them in dire perplexity, and as they advanced to the ticket-taker one of them said: "Here are our tickets. Will you kindly show us to the pews."

John F. Donnelly, manager of the Academy of Music, is filled with a burning desire to get even with the Anti-Poverty Society. At the last meeting of that august organization he was politely roasted from the platform, because it was alleged that he had rented the Academy "over their heads." Mr. Donnelly was behind the scenes while the roasting process was going on. He didn't like it. He expects people to feel the same respect for him that he feels for himself. If that man doesn't get off that platform quickly," he said, with a volcanic smile, "I'll go and pull him off." Fortunately for him the man, Mr. Donnelly skirmished about yesterday and declared that nothing in the world would induce him to let the Anti-Poverty people into the Academy on Sunday. Even the need of the money had no influence with Mr. Donnelly. The Academy was unrented, but by dint of hard work the manager has arranged a concert for to-morrow evening. Miss Dorée Duane will make her debut, while Miss Dora Henninges, known gracefully as "dramatic prima donna contralto;" Miss Alice Coleman, from the Crystal Palace, London, and Mrs. Alice J. Shaw, the whistier, will participate. The event will be managed by the genial Gus A. Kirker.

Miss Belle Archer, the charming actress, Miss Belle Archer, the charming actress, has been fearfully, yet unwittingly, caricatured by an enterprising St. Louis paper, which, evidently burning with anxiety to present pictorially to its readers "the lady mashers of the New York boards," was not particular what picture it used. Miss Archer, who is in reality handsome, looks in this picture very much like Lydis Pinkham, only not so young or so-pretty. She has goggle eyes, furrowed cheeks and a horrible nose. A friend of Miss Archer's yesterday cut the picture from the paper, put it on cardboard. picture from the paper, put it on cardboard, bought a small frame and sent it to the lady, boy, while walking along Eighth avenue, telling her that he was charmed with her near Fortieth street, appeared as if his concludes the largest check ever passed in that which he intended having enlarged and placed on an easel in his drawing-room.

"L'Amour Nous Guide" is the fetching little device selected by Mr. E. E. Rice for the new curtain to be used at the Bijou Opera-House on Monday. No prettier curtain will be found in the city. "L'Amour Nous Guide" is the name of Spiridon's famous picture. It shows a boat containing a man and woman, steered by Cupid and is beautifully copied on the Bijou curtain.

FIERCE FOREST FIRES IN ILLINOIS.

Farmers Fruitlessly Fighting the Flames-One Man Burned to Death.

SPECIAL TO THE WORLD. OARLAND, Ill., No. 19 .- A fire, which started in the Smith woods, one mile west of this city, vesterday, obtained a good head way and for miles went north. It swept everything before it. On the swept everything before it. On the west of the woods are the Embarrass bottoms, dense with underbrush and large jack oak and hickory trees. These trees were totally destroyed, and with it all the fencing in the path of the flames. At north, after reaching the bottoms, is a neck or stretch of timber fifteen miles long. The whole neighborhood turned out to fight the fire, but so far the efforts of the people have been fruitless. The farmhouses were directly in the track of the flames and were hauled outside of the fire limit, the heat of the fire is so intense, that it is impossible to get within a quarter of a mile of it. One young man was burned to death fighting the flames.

"One Little Maid is a Bride." Miss Celia Ellis, the pretty little lady who played Pitti Sing in Col. John A. McCaull's production of "The Mikado," and who subsequently did good "The Mikado," and who subsequently did good work in "The Arabian Nights," is to be married this evening to Mr. Henry S. Blake, of the firm of Blake Bros. & Co., of 15 Wall street. Miss Ellis is the daughter of 4-corner Flanagan, and for several years has taken care of her five small sisters. She has now permanently left the stage, according to Mr. Blake's wish. That gentleman met Miss Flanagan some seven years ago in an amateur theatrical society. The wedding will be strictly private. The bride is a Catholic; the bridegroom a Protestant.

The differences between the Eastern Light Association of Glass Bevelers and their employers has been amicably settled. The agreement printed in been aimcanly section. The agreement printed in alors. The firm of Heroy & Marrinor has not ac-ceded to the demands for an increase of $1 per week per man, but all the other firms are expected to sign the agreement for one year as soon as com-mittees arrange matters.

A Newspaper His Only Shroud. An unknown man, apparently the driver of ar ash cart, sat down on a stoop at 147 Worth street, next door to a lodging-house, last night, and slept the sleep that knows no waking. A polleeman found him sitting up stark dead at 4.55 o'clock this morning and removed his body to the Sixth Precinci station-house. A newspaper covers his face and is his only shroud.

All the news and a magasine of bright, interest-ing reading in the Bunday WOLLD. Three cents.

MOST, SAUSAGES AND BEER,

A Description of the Amereblet as He is Seen A new "No Reporters Admitted" sign, much larger than the old one, was pasted on the door of Johann Most's office this morning. After the word "admitted" appeared in parentheses the words "Schreib-Knechte"—slaves of the pen. This new feature seemed to indicate intense hatred on the part of the fiery Anarchist. Nevertheless, a reporter of The World pushed open the door of the Anarchist's den at 10.20 this morning and, not without an inward tremor, entered without an inward tremor, entered.

It is passing strange that one cannot find Most in his office at a time when he is not engaged in the wholesale comsumption of sausage and beer. It reads like an invention of the enemy, but it is the simple fact.

At the hour mentioned two men sat at a round table in the front end of the room. One was Editor Most and the other was Julius Schultz, assistant editor of the Fesheli.

One was Editor Most and the other was sulins Schultz, assistant editor of the Freiheit.

The table was littered with documents and Schultz was writing rapidly, presumably working on a red-hot diatribe for to-day's issue of the Anarchist sheet.

Most had a pen behind his ear, but there was no other sign of his editorial labors. He was eating, or, more correctly speaking, feedwas no other sign of his editorial labors. He was eating, or, more correctly speaking, feeding. Before him was a buge pile of sausages, resting on coarse yellow-brown paper, evidently just brought from a German pork-butcher's. They were of the fat and indigestible variety known as "liberwurst." The reporter tried to count them and got as far as eleven. The others were hidden from view by those on the top. Near by, but necessarily at some distance from the sitting Anarchist, were a huge brown pitcher of beer and a glass full of the froth covered liquid.

The reporter spoke to Most for several minutes, but the Anarchist's eyes were fixed on the sausages and beer. Every moment a hand holding a murderous clasp-knife cut off a few inches of the thick sausage, and another hand clutched first the pitcher and then the glass. Both the sausage and the another hand clutched first the pitcher and then the glass. Both the sausage and the beer were quickly conveyed to Most's mouth. The rapidity of the movement of Most's hand and jaw was bewildering.

Between the gulps sounds came from Most's hard worked jaws, in reply to questions, to the effect that Mr. Howe would defend him on Tuesday and that he would be acquitted to his surface were flexible to the bis. unless justice were flagrantly violated to his oppression. Also that he felt quite well, being too much used to prisons to allow coninement, recent or prospective, to prey on his mind.

The reporter backed out, his eyes still fixed by a strange fascination on the fast declining heap of sausages and the diminishing stock of beer. As the door closed Most tackled a fresh sausage.

The Only Disaffection Said to Exist Among the Chronic "Kickern."

KNIGHTS OF LABOR FOR PEACE.

A good deal has been published about the alleged split in the Knights of Labor and the proposed formation of another order composed of the so-called "kickers" or malcontents. THE WORLD has already reported the causes which led to the " Provisional Committee's ' circular and published interviews with leading Knights indicating that the disaffection arose from the refusal of the General Assem-arose from the refusal of the General Assembly to pass resolutions of sympathy with the condemned Chicago Anarchists.

A prominent member of District Assembly No. 49 said to-day: "If the radical kickers really want reforms they should not go outside to get them, but they are malcontents we can very well get along without. Reports about the refusal of local and district assemblies to pay dues and assessments are all bosh. If any of the organizations do not pay up they will be promptly suspended according to the laws of the order. The men who lead this movement are well known as chronic kickers. I think the order is on a better and safer basis than it ever was before, and will have the confidence of the laboring classes and the American public. 'Let us have peace' is our sentiment at this time."

FOLLOWED HARD BY FEAR.

Conscience Made Temlinson Such a Coward

That a Detective Arrested Him. Detective Evanhoe, of the Sixteenth Pre cinct, had his attention attracted to Frederick Tomlinson, sixteen years old, of 425 West Thirty-third street, last night. The near Fortieth street, appeared as if his conscience were not clear. Every now and then he would hurriedly turn his head and shoot a glance down the street as if he feared something.

The detective, after following him about a mile, determined to take him into custody.
Tomlinson carried a bundle which contained a silk plush sacque valued at $40. On being questioned where he procured the the sacque he said he got it from Mrs. Mooney, at 118 West Thirty-sixth street. He contradicted himself the next moment by saying that he worked at O'Neill's fancygoods store, at Sixth avenue and Twentieth street, and was ordered to deliver it at 59 West Fifty-second street. That was also discovered to be false.

This morning William C. Strange, manager of O'Neill's, made a charge of larceny against Tomlinson at Jefferson Market Court. Tomlinson was held for trial.

KNIGHTS STILL SECEDING. Four New Assemblies Join the Rebellion

What M. W. Dovey Sava. (SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.) PITTSBURG, Nov. 19.—Master Workman Dovey, of District Assembly 8, regards the convention of rebellious Knights as illegal. He says: "It would be all right if they would go about it properly. Not one of the Assemblies has withdrawn from the district." The work of secession is still progressing, and four more local assemblies have applied for admission.

The members of the Amalgamated Association are not afraid that their organization will be affected in the least by the new National Trades' District.

Two Celebrities Gone West.

John Ward, the baseball player, and his wife, Helen Dauvray, the actress, left on the Pennsylvania Railroad limited express at 9 o'clock this torning for California. Mrs. Ward wore a brown travelling suit and a jaunty black lace bonnet, Mr. and Mrs. Ward will remain in California for a number of months. Part of the time, while Mr. Ward is travelling with the New York biaseball team, Mrs. Ward will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Saville at Los Angeles. Mr. Saville was a member of Helen Dauvray's company until tids-banded, and is now in the real estate business.

Herses Rescued With Difficulty. street, caught fire early this morning, and two alarms were sent out before the firemen succeeded in getting the blaze under control. The building was damaged $2,500. The horses were rescued after considerable difficulty.

Harmony Among Hog-Butchers Reports received from members of the Stanley association of hog-butchers indicate that their de mands for a uniform rate of wages and for the em-ployment of union men only will be conceded. The agreement will hold good for a year. The men began work at 1 o'clock to-day as uhual.

Cause, Politica Edward O'Grady, an attendant in Civil Justice

COMING EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

MRS. ASTOR TO GIVE A BALL IN HER HOME IN FIFTH AVENUE ON JAN. 9.

Many New Receptions Announced for the Near Puture-The First Meeting of the Thursday Club Set Down for Dec. 1-Mrs. Schieffelin's Three-Day Reception to b Given on Dec. 8, 9 and 10.

Y most people invitations are very eagerly desired for any prominent festivities at Mrs. W. Astor's, The house is so large, and the whole aspect so light, luxurious and cheerful, and the host-

Jan. 9 will be the event of the winter her married daughters,

Mrs. Henry Hoyt's, 8 West Tenth street, on Thursday evening, Dec. 1.

Thursday afternoon, Dec. 1. Mrs. Edward Mitchell, of 45 West Fifty-will give a tea on the afternoon of Dec. 8.

Mrs. J. L. Lee, of 21 West Seventeenth street, will give a large reception on the after-

Mrs. Woodsworth, of 18 East Thirty-seventh street, will give a afternoon tea on Dec. 16.

Miss Ella C. Jones, of 346 West One Hundred and Twenty-third street, will entertain the Lvy Social Circle on next Friday evening.

It is reported that Miss Eloise Telfair, the handsome daughter of Mr. Jacob R. Telfair, who is abroad, has become engaged to a titled and wealthy foreigner.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin will return after their summer in Scotland to their home in this city, 22 West Twentieth street, in another fortnight.

The engagement is announced of Mr. Alfred H. Thorp and Miss Fanny Lahy.

Mrs. D. P. Hays, of 63 West One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, will be the recipient of a surprise party this evening.

The great event of the coming week in Orange will be the wedding of Mr. Hawkesworth and Miss Kirtland on Tuesday, at St. Mark's Church. Two thousand invitations have been sent out.

Mrs. E. G. Neresheimer will give a dance this evening at her home, at One Hundred and Nineteenth street and Sixth avenue.

Read what "Sunset" Cox has to say about

WORLDLINGS. Secretary Fairchild has the reputation of being white deer which had albino eyes. It was one of the few ever seen in the Ssate. Mr. Thomas Beasely, who died near Clarkesville, Tenn. . last week weighed 485 pounds when in good

A Detroit customs officer says that immense quantities of dutiable goods are smuggled into Canada from that port every year. Much of the smuggling is done by Canadian people of social phia is Dr. Caroline V. Anderson, the daughter of a wealthy negro cost merchant. She was gradu-ated from the Medical Department of the Uni-Senator Stanford, of California, has about twenty jockeys at his Paio Alto farm, and nearly one hundred stable employees. He has recently established a night school for their benefit, at which Mrs. Stanford herself frequently gives instruction Mrs. Maria Phillips, of Denver, has just celebrated her luist birthday, and is probably the est person in Colorado. She preserves all her faculties and her hair, once raven black but for

The credit of establishing a national Thanksgiv-ing Day is attributed to Mrs. Sarah J. Hale, late editor of Godev's Lady's Book. As far back as leal she began to urge upon the Governors of the States the propriety of issuing Thanksgiving proc-lamations until in 1859 the day was observed in went to pull on his boots the other morning his foot crushed into something soft, and it struck him that it must be a snake. The boot was off in a jiffy, and the reptile slid out ontof the floor. It was a small moccasin, which had not had a chance to bite. A Chicago lady, who occupies a handsome house in Ashland avenue, came East recently for a short holiday and left her home in charge of the laundress. The latter had a pretty daughter, who inparties, and was the recipient of a number of fialtering offers of marriage before the lady returned unexpectedly and put a sudden end to the young scrubwoman's society career.

P. V. R. P.—Jay Gould's steam yacht Atlants has arrived on the other side of the ocean. R. C.—The Thistie in her race with the Volunteer had a crew of forty men. The usual crew is Michael Norton's Court, has been removed and Jeremiah Rogers appointed in his place. Cause, in the Sunday WORLD.

ess herself so charming, that the guests are sure to have a pleasant time. The

Mrs. Coleman Drayton and Mrs. Orme Wilon, to assist her in receiving. The Thursday Evening Club will meet at

Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, of 72 East Thirtyfourth street, will give a large reception on fifth street, will give a tea on Dec. 1, from 4 until 7 o'clock p. m.

Mrs. A. S. Webb, of 15 Lexington avenue, will give a reception on Dec 6.

Mrs. W. B. Williams, of 25 West Twentieth street, will give a tea on Dec. 6.

Mrs. S. B. Schieffelin, of 958 Madison avenue, as usual for several years past, will give three large receptions this season on three successive days. The dates will be Dec. 8, 9 and 10.

Mrs. John Wells, of 12 West Ninth street, street, will give a large reception on the afternoon of Dec. 9.

Mrs. Edward Anthon, of 25 West Thirtythird street, will give large receptions on the afternoons of Dec. 9 and 17.

Mrs. O'Connor. of 24 East Thirty-third street, will give receptions the afternoons of Dec. 14 and 21.

Mrs. Woodsworth, of 18 East Thirty-seventh street, will give a of the street will give a of the street.

political life, in the Sunday WORLD.

the best-dressed and most aristocratic looking member of the Cabinet. A hunter in Sonora County, Cal., recently shot a nealth. He was supposed to be the biggest ma the State. A certified check for $1,015,792 paid a few days

Mr. George D. Smith, of Macon, Ga., saw fit to refer to Mr. George R. Shine, an acquaintance, as a person " not fit for fish balt," and the aggreeved years past as white as anow, is beginning to re-sume its original color. Mrs. Phillips smokes a pipe incessantly.

One of the most successful surgeons of Philadel versity of Pennsylvania.

all the States but two. When Jim Felton, a hunter, near Iberia, La.,

J. M.—The headquarters of the New York Checker Club are at 138 Canal street. W. E. M. -The Galatea took seventeen days to

A. E.—" Is it possible for a man to get a divorce without his wife having knowledge or notice of it?" It is perfectly possible. Men do it every day. The question then arise: "Is the divorce a lawful one?" Sometimes it is not.

Look for the recipes for a Thanksgiving dis

Answers to Correspondents. C. B. P.—The last exposition held in Paris was